This year, Artistic Fraud, Newfoundland and Labrador's acclaimed theatre troupe brings a special version of Michael Crummey's Salvage, The Story of a House to scenic Salvage, one of Newfoundland and Labrador's oldest communities.

The performances take place on Burden's Point, site of two historic properties. The main setting is the house of James Burden (1870-1953)

The audience will tour the Burden house, James Burden's fishing store, and other areas of the property while members of Artistic Fraud perform their dramatic readings.

There are 50 tickets available for each performance. Be one of the audience at this last event of the 2005 Winterset in Summer Literary Festival.
